

---

News Archive Space until 2007

ILA 2006: Tour through the Space Pavilion

16 May 2006

This morning, the Berlin Air Show 2006 (ILA) was opened. In a special Space Pavilion, using the motto "Space For Life", the German Aerospace Center (DLR), together with its partners, the German Aerospace Industries Association (BDLI) and the European Space Agency (ESA) presents missions and experiments from German and European space travel.

DLR host Claus Kruesken takes you on a tour through the Space Pavilion in our featured webcast.

Amongst other subjects, Europe's strongest booster rocket Ariane 5 ECA is featured alongside the European space laboratory 'Columbus', fascinating images from the Mars Express mission, Mars Rovers and satellite technology.

The ILA Space Hall is a collaborative project of DLR, BDLI and ESA with the support of the German Federal Ministry for economics and technology (BMW).

---

Contact details for image and video enquiries as well as information regarding DLR's terms of use can be found on the DLR portal imprint.