

News Archive Cologne

More than 80 000 people enjoy the sunshine at DLR's Aviation and Aerospace Day

17 September 2007

More than 80 000 visitors attended DLR's Open Day on Sunday at its establishment in the Cologne suburb of Porz. In glorious late summer weather, a fun day was laid on for all the family as DLR got the chance to show its research programme to the public.

See some of great images of the day here from the research institutes, the exhibitions and the aircraft to the childrens' show and some fabulous events on stage.

Pictures from Mars

A true visitor attraction

On stage

Experiment

Aerotrims

Red Planet wheels

Parachute jump

Round trip

Here comes the mouse

Young pilot

On the runway...

Official opening

Explanations

Parabolic flight

Full house

Related Contacts

Henning Krause

German Aerospace Center

Corporate Communications

Tel: +49 2203 601-2502

Fax: +49 2203 601-3249

E-Mail: henning.krause@dlr.de

Contact details for image and video enquiries as well as information regarding DLR's terms of use can be found on the DLR portal imprint.