

News-Archiv Transport 2010

DLR launches new English-language magazine

14 June 2010

Here, you can read the latest edition of DLR magazine online or in PDF format. If you are interested in a complimentary subscription to the printed version, please click here.

DLR's flagship publication, DLR Magazine, is now available in an English-language edition.

It says Magazine on the cover and it lives up to its name – news, comment and interviews complement traditional articles written by DLR researchers, all prepared by specialist editors. Complex issues are made understandable and large projects are covered without leaving out the small steps on the road to an important discovery. The everyday work of researchers is placed in focus – people who with persistence, imagination and courage, invent something really new and innovative.

In this issue, you can read about advanced manufacturing and quality control techniques for aircraft construction using composite materials and get the lowdown on alternative aviation fuels. Learn more about a renaissance for open rotors in aircraft propulsion and find out how airports will be managed in the future. Take part in chasing ice crystals in the sky or the search for potentially dangerous asteroids. Last but not least, DLR Magazine contains the latest on DLR's energy and transport research as well.

This new DLR Magazine brings you modern science communication at its best – with amazing imagery and engaging editorial content.

Enjoy reading.

Related Contacts

Cordula Tegen

Deutsches Zentrum für Luft- und Raumfahrt (DLR) - German Aerospace Center
Corporate Communications

Tel: +49 2203 601-3876
Fax: +49 2203 601-3249
E-Mail: Cordula.Tegen@dlr.de

Marco Trovatiello
German Aerospace Center (DLR)
Corporate Communications
Tel: +49 2203 601-2116
Fax: +49 2203 601-3249
E-Mail: marco.trovatiello@dlr.de

Contact details for image and video enquiries as well as information regarding DLR's terms of use can be found on the DLR portal imprint.